Catonsville volleyball standout Molly Snyder was voted last week's Baltimore County Athlete of the Week, receiving 61.11% of the vote after helping the Comets start the season unbeaten.

Each week, The Baltimore Sun highlights standout performances from Baltimore County high school athletes across fall sports.

Coaches can submit nominations each week by emailing mhowes@baltsun.com.

Here are this week's nominees:

David Akinsuroju, Eastern Tech, football

Akinsuroju continued his strong start to the season with 175 yards and five touchdowns for the Mavericks against Lansdowne.

Dominic Brown, Catonsville, boys soccer

The senior striker scored twice and added an assist in Catonsville's 4-1 win over Dulaney. Brown also generated several other scoring opportunities with his shooting and corner-kick deliveries.

Michaela Conlon, Catonsville, girls soccer

Conlon produced one of her strongest performances of the season against top-10 Century, creating several scoring chances and hitting the crossbar. She followed that by scoring the game-winning goal in a 1-0 victory over Sparrows Point.

Aliya Davis, Hereford, field hockey

The junior forward scored four goals against Century before adding a goal and an assist against Sparrows Point. Davis also delivered a key performance against Fallston.

Ashton Griffin, New Town, football

The defensive end recorded three sacks, a forced fumble and three quarterback hurries against Catonsville. Griffin recently transitioned from middle linebacker to rush defensive end.

Aayana Hammonds, Dundalk, flag football

The senior running back and cornerback rushed for five touchdowns and totaled more than 150 yards in Dundalk's 48-0 victory over Patapsco, helping the Owls improve to 3-0.

Saniya Howard, Pikesville, flag football

The senior pass rusher recorded 10 sacks and six tackles for loss against Loch Raven.

Eva Klosteridis, Catonsville, volleyball

The senior libero helped Catonsville extend its winning streak to five with victories over Towson and No. 13 Dulaney. Klosteridis totaled 19 digs and three aces against Dulaney and added eight digs and two aces against Towson.

Eve Oluwasesan, Milford Mill, girls soccer

The junior forward scored all three goals in Milford Mill's 3-2 comeback win over Owings Mills. With the Millers trailing 2-1 at halftime, Oluwasesan scored twice in the second half to deliver the program's first victory since 2024.

Owen Peiser, Sparrows Point, boys soccer

The junior forward recorded a hat trick against Eastern Tech. Peiser scored twice during regulation before completing the hat trick on a direct free kick with one minute remaining in the first overtime period.

Lilyann Richard, Towson, field hockey

The senior midfielder scored four of Towson's eight goals and added an assist against Franklin. She followed that performance with four more goals Saturday against Oakdale, giving her eight across two games.

Jeremiah Robinson, Western Tech, boys soccer

Robinson scored six goals across two Western Tech victories, recording a hat trick in each game.

Bailey Yates, Hereford, flag football

The running back scored two touchdowns and recorded an interception against Carver, making an impact on both sides of the ball while consistently creating yardage with her running and flag evasion.
